FOJANA CHARDONNAY 2020

Fojana Srednji Kos | Goriška Brda, Slovenia
Altitude: 110.5 m

Northern exposure. Opoka (marl) soil. A little cooler vineyard - impact of northern wind. Planted in 1994.

The colour is deeper golden yellow. Quite pronounced on the nose, dramatic, "Wagner-like" showing ripe peach, smoke, butter, cloves as well as lime and caramel. Closer to the cool or moderate climate expression than the warm one. It needs a bit of time to open completely. Dry on the palate, medium bodied, not full-bodied at all, with ripe, unusually high acidities for Brda. Wet stone, flint, butter, a touch of intrigant bitterness. It brings plenty of tension, aromatic profile is mineral, restrained with no fruity flavours whatsoever. It also features oily texture, which adds to the horizontal complexity and brings a fine oval perception of the body. Very long, tense. A classic Fojana expression with very long finish. Very approachable already but will get better with time.

Drink from 2023–2032.
