KOZANA SAUVIGNON BLANC 2020

Kozana polje | Goriška Brda, Slovenia
Altitude: 1272 m

A bit more windy area. North west exposure, but very sunny, it's almost like a "plato". Opoka soil, with big blocks of stones, a lot of water in depth of the hill, very good draining capability. Vines with very deep roots. Planted 1986.

It shows a deeper, almost a deep golden colour. It is the deepest among our Sauvignon Blancs. Intense and opulent on the nose. There is less varietal character compared to those from Fojana, let alone the classic Sauvignon Blanc, still the variety is indisputable. Butter, oak, gooseberry, caramel, smoke. Dry on the palate with moderate acidities. Oily texture gives the impression of roundness as well as fullness. Full bodied. It indicates an obvious and uncompromised grape ripeness which was on the edge of overripeness before picking. Slightly sleepy on the palate at first, showing only horizontal dimension, with time a very attractive tension appears, giving a nice vertical balance. Clearly from Kozana. With a long, warm finish reminiscent of cloves and cinnamon.

Drink from 2023–2030.
